N. 1975, 50 YEARS AWAY.
According to Gen. Happen, the Port of New York,
New York City will have 10,000,
600 population and will be made into a separate state, No. 49 in the Union.

How much population do you
suppose California, Florida,
Texas, will have fifty or a hundred years hence? It sounds incredible, but the wailing child of today, will probably live to see an American city with a population greater than today's population of the United States.

New York has adopted the institution: "Taking a man for a ride."

Yesterday morning, one who had ridden was found with a bullet in his right temple, only the laundry mark on his silk shirt to identify him.

The man chosen is put on the front seat, not knowing that he is to travel further than he ever went before.

At the right spot a man on the back seat puts a bullet in his head. He is thrown out, blood stains washed off, and the car
is ready for another ride.
That is one by-product of bootlegging.

Europe is bewildered by earthquakes. Thousands of homes in Bulgaria were shaken to the earth, and the population hoping that Divine Providence would stop shaking the earth, waited anxiously around a city, singing hymns of repentance.

Divine Providence apparently is not pleased.

More earthquakes in the Balkans, Varna on the Black Sea is flooded by a tidal wave, islands
in the Aegean swept by a cyclone.

Men might well find in their war against nature enough fighting to do without killing each other.

The fliers of the Bremen are on their way from the north to Washington, coming through the air in an airplane built by Henry Ford and hired by an organization of various newspapers.

The body of Floyd Bennett is on its way to burial in Arlington.
No more honor, story or excitement for him on this earth.

"Babe" Meigs, formerly a giant football player at the University of Chicago, now publisher of the Chicago Herald and Examiner, calls attention to the fact that Brenn's all-metal inter-continental planes have flown millions of miles without loss of life.

The other day Meigs flew in one of the Ford planes, used by Standard Oil of Indiana, from Chicago to Detroit, in three hours, spoke at an advertising banquet, flew in another Ford plane from Detroit to Cleveland,
that afternoon and took the 20th Century to New York. In 24 hours he went from Chicago to New York, stopping to speak in Detroit.

He might have reached New York at 10 p. m. of the day he left Chicago, but no airplane was available. Mrs. Meigs flew with him.

Five young women who worked for Uncle Sam during the war are told that they are doomed to death by radium poisoning. They painted luminous dial on war watches.

The women beg permission to use the Government in whose service they were condemned to death.

Science cannot help these women. This rich country should pay them generously.

Postmaster-General New, wise
and because it was necessary,
orders the Baldwin Locomotive Works to build 275 armored cars for mail trucks to protect the drivers from hold-up men and machine guns.

That sheds light on law and order in 1924. The general crime

BREMEN FLIERS REACH N. Y. ON WAY SOUTH

Yonkers, N. Y., April 27 (AP)—A tri-motored airplane believed to be carrying the crew of the Bremen on its way to Washington, passed over Yonkers at 1:17 this afternoon. At 12:45 the plane was reported flying over Poughkeepsie. At that time it was too high to permit distinguishing of its markings. It was sighted over New York at 1:35.

Hartford, Conn., April 27.—The transatlantic aviators comprising the crew of the German plane Bremen, today passed up Hartford on their way toward their ultimate goal in New York, and passed along the Hudson with the idea of flying direct to Washington before finally landing at New York.

Clarence Chamberlin, who on Monday flew from Hartford to Quebec to greet the visitors, returned as a messenger this afternoon with the news of their intended route.

"They are all in good health," Chamberlin declared when he stepped from his machine on Brainerd Field.

When Chamberlin left the Bremen fliers on their way down from Canada the visitors' plane was following the Hudson river.

It was estimated that it would reach New York city shortly after 1 o'clock.

It was expected that several planes from the metropolis would soon forth to meet the visiting airmen somewhere above the city.

Fly Doomed to Death by Screen Electrocutation

Washington, April 27 (NSN) —
The Army is going to join the "swat the fly" movement this spring in a large way—with all modern improvements.
Quartermaster General B. F.
Cuthbert today approved experimental tests of a commercial electrical device to be attached to screen doors which will shock
every alighting fly to death immediately.
Only a small current is required,
so that no danger or inconvenience to humans is involved. War Department studies reveal that the great fly menace is in screen doors of mess kitchens, commandants store houses and company cafeterias.

With the electrocution device
placed at strategic points it is expected the early spring death rate in the fly kingdom will be so heavy that it summer comes then swatters may be better than plough shares, or sunlight.

Bremen's Flags for Bennett's Grave

Transatlantic Flight

Lake St. Agnes, Que., April 27.—At least we are on our way again and have achieved the worst part of the journey from our island home to the United States.

We are happy to be here and to have received so wonderful a welcome, but sad at heart as we think of the death of our gallant comrade, Floyd Bennett, who died in the service of aviation that he loved so dearly and in whose constellation of heroes he was so luminous a star.

The death of Floyd Bennett has come as a great shock to all of us, to Fitzmaurice, Kohl and I, and has left us all with heavy hearts.
We shall fly from here today to Washington, before we go to New York, and on the grave of that gallant comrade we shall place
the flags which we brought over to the Bremen from Europe as our token of love and memory.

On the tomb we shall fly the flag of his own country, your own United States, the flag of the fatherland of Kohl and myself, Germany, and the flag of Ireland, which Commandant Fitzmaurice will place on the grave; also shall we place the flags of the North German Lloyd
and the Hamburg American lines.

When we have paid our respects
and tribute to your Floyd Bennett's memory, we shall then fly
from Washington to New York and shall land on Mitchell Field
there. That, according to present plans, will bring our arrival in New York to an early hour tomorrow.

One other event has left sorrow
in the hearts of my comrades and myself, and that is the fact that we have been forced to abandon our Bremen on the lonely coast of Greenly Island. There our gallant craft must stay until we are able to make plans for her removal to New York and thence to Germany.

MOVE THE BREMEN

This is something that is very regrettable, for our Bremen has been a tried and trusty friend to all of us. And each one realizes full well that our gallant Junkers aeroplane was one of the best that we have seen in this dangerous expedition to which many brave
of the air have so gloriously fallen.

Cold weather, the frozen coldness of the fringes of Labrador, is the cause of this abandonment of the Bremen, and it was with sorrow that we realized that we could not bring her away from Greenly with us. Perhaps had conditions been otherwise we might have been able to fly away, but the Bremen had been ready to sink on the shores of her island for many days in the Arctic coldness before we were ready to think of flying again.

We made no effort to fly from the ice in the Straits of Belle Isle
last night, but in the morning
After the arduous expedition which brought the Bremen from her landing place on Greenly Island to her present resting place near the mainland, a matter of two miles, we soon knew that we faced an insuperable task.

Workmen from the mainland and ourselves had brought the Bremen across from Greenly with the assistance of little sleds to which dogs were attached as beasts of burden, and, by very great effort we were able to arrive without further damage to the machine itself.
The repair parts which had been brought to us by our good friend
Herr Balchen, who piloted the aeroplane which the mayor of New York sent to Greenly Island, and in which we have flown to Lake St. Agnes, were soon affixed. These, of course, constituted principally of the new un-dercarriage which Balchen brought with him. But the mechanical minded members of our crew and our assistants soon decided that it would be impossible to fly.
There was the problem of our un-dercarriage wheels and the fact that we had no axle, also the fact of the effect of the extremely cold weather on our engine. This decided us that we must forsake the Bremen, temporarily, until mechanics who have known that engine in its most minute detail can decide on the steps to be taken. The decision as to the movements of the Bremen, therefore, must await events still to develop.

THROUGH SNOWSTORM

Our journey from Greenly Island to Lake St. Agnes has been what I have heard called a "hard open" for a man who, like myself, is not accustomed to flying under the conditions of this northern winter. Soon after breakfast we were under way, clearing the ice aerobically under the expert hand of Balchen, in the manner.
It was snowing when we left, and for the first hundred miles we were flying through a blinding snowstorm. Then the weather began to clear, shortly before we reached the place which the map calls Narsarsuaq.
The remainder of the journey
was accomplished in fair weather and with splendid conditions of visibility, but it was decidedly bumpy and those who flew the aeroplane testify that the breeze was difficult to fly under the conditions of aerial bumps which obtained.

After Herr Balchen had flown
for the first hour after the taking off from Greenly, he surrendered
the controls to Fitzmaurice and our Irish comrade in this German-titled crew carried on for the next hour, surrendering the wheeling at that time to Kohl.

Kohl flew the Ford aeroplane for another hour, then the controls were given again to Balchen, and so on,
until we were approaching our destination here, when Balchen assumed control for the last time and effected a perfect landing on the snow and ice of the lake.

Here we have received a most wonderful welcome.
But everyone was wonderfully lified and soon we were passing ashore towards the hangars beside

New York, April 27 (AP)—Mrs. Made Virginia Jones Westin, heiress of the tea fortune of her father, one of the founders of the Jones Brothers Tea Company, today was in a honeymoon trip to California with her husband, David J. Westin, a former Salem man who came to New York several years ago from Salem, Mass.

They were married yesterday at the bride's Park ave. apartment by the Rev. Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, the ceremony being attended only by the immediate relatives. The marriage license gave the bride's age as 21 and that of the bridegroom as 22.

The bride was divorced in 1912 from Clarence Frederick Westin, a wealthy broker and stockman.

Study Weather Over North Atlantic to Aid Ocean Fliers

Washington, April 27 (AP)—Anticipating many trans-oceanic aircraft flights this year, international meteorologists are preparing to make available the best possible weather forecasts.

Prof. C. Arva, director of the U. S. Weather Bureau, will call for Europe soon with E. E. Calvert, chief forecaster, to attend meteorological conferences called by Gen. Del Camille, director of the French weather service.

Weather experts of England, Germany, Belgium, Italy, France, United States and other countries will launch an international study.

A special study will be made of North Atlantic weather. All steamship skippers will be asked to cooperate in reporting storms, winds, high and low pressure areas.

LIMITS TAX CUT TO 203 MILLION

Washington, April 27 (AP)—The Senate finance committee today completed its revision of the House tax reduction bill and announced it would ask the Senate to begin considering the $203,000,000 measure next Thursday.

A formal report was withheld until after the committee on Monday took over a series of the revised measure. Many administrative changes were made in the House bill in addition to the limitations set by the Treasury.

The Senate Finance Committee's new bill is before the Senate and there is an likelihood of a vote on it before next Thursday. But Sen. Clegg said he expected to delay until he has the tax bill taken up on that day and if necessary have the House's plan measure temporarily laid aside.

With the time drawn for the tax plan, Senate leaders expect to discuss the bill within a week or 10 days.

INVALID SHOTS WIFE HE CANNOT DIVORCE

Miami, Fla., April 27 (AP)—Having slain the wife who cared for him 14 years, a wheel chair invalid was here today on a charge of murder.

It is believed he was driven temporarily insane by his confinement. Bert Campbell, 37, the prisoner, declared he shot the woman because he had just learned he could not divorce her. He returned to police he had called and was carried off in the invalid's chair.

Neighbors said the wife had worked as a nurse to support her slayer. Police said Campbell had a wealthy property owner. He is the father of two daughters, one a student in Columbia University.

SANDINO DISAPPEARS AFTER THREAT OF RAID

Managua, Nicaragua, April 27 (AP)—Gen. Augustino Sandino, rebel leader, has disappeared into the hills of northern Nicaragua after making threats to raid Puerto Cabezas on the coast.

Most of the 500 Americans at Puerto Cabezas regard the rebel threat as a bluff. Presence of a largearrison of American Marines and an American gunboat there reassured them. The fate of General Marshall of New York, who was seized by a Sandino officer, is still a mystery.

VETS URGE FAIR DEAL FOR GOLD STAR BILL

By JAMES T. WILLIAMS, Jr.,
Editor of Universal Service
Washington, April 27—Veterans of the Great War all over the country are renewing their appeals to the United States Senate to give the Gold Star Mothers bill the square deal that only a public hearing on its merits can provide.

Refusal of Senator Bingham, of Connecticut, to say when, if at all, he will give the supporters and opponents, if there be any, of this measure an opportunity to appear before the subcommittee, of which he is chairman, has caused great surprise.

Several other members of the Senate committee on military affairs have expressed an eagerness to vote for the bill.

Excuses were offered today that the bill as it passed the House should be amended. This is looked on by supporters of the bill as an attempt to draw a red herring across the trail.

As it passed the House, the bill authorized the President to arrange for a pilgrimage at Government expense of Gold Star Mothers to the graves of their sons if they are on foreign soil. Invitations would go for only one pilgrimage, and this not to be made between July 1, 1928, and June 30, 1931.

Whether the pilgrimage should be made exclusively under Government auspices or whether the assistance of the Red Cross should be obtained is one part of the bill about which the Senators are not yet of one mind.

Members of the committee on military affairs of the Senate are beginning to get many communications urging the passage of this bill.

SOUTH END FIRE HALTS TRAFFIC

Traffic in Tremont st. and the subway was tied up and a number of buildings were threatened when a two-alarm fire broke out today in the plant of the Hatton Bag Company on Angell st., South End.

Thick black smoke belched from the windows, alarming the neighborhood and handicapping the firemen, necessitating the turning in of a second alarm.

The blaze started on the fourth floor, where it was confined, with damage estimated at $2000. Traffic on both elevated tracks was tied up for 20 minutes.

DOG, CAUGHT IN TRAP, SHOT BY REVERE OFFICER

The North Revere section was in an uproar today when a police dog was discovered caught in a muskrat trap in Salem st. Patrolman John Delaney shot the dog when he found its leg had been broken. The policeman was sent to Salem st. after a neighbor had telephoned police headquarters with a complaint that a dog had been howling most of the night.

19 Mexican Rebels Killed

Mexico City, April 27 (AP)—Dispatches from Juarez today said 19 insurgents, including their commander, Felipe Suarez, were slain in battle with Federal troops at Las Guadalupe.

SENATE FIGHT ON 2 TAX BILLS

Washington, April 27 (INS)—Two distinct tax bills, one by the Republicans proposing a $105,000,000 reduction and one by the Democrats offering a $235,000,000 slash, will be presented to the senate next week.

The Democrats will fight to either reduce or repeal all individual war-time taxes. A vote by President Coolidge has been indicated if Congress enacts a $300,000,000 tax slash.

A strange alliance between the administration forces and the Republican insurgents was rumored today, by which the insurgents will support the administration's plan in return for abandonment of the Mellon proposal to repeal the federal inheritance tax. The Republican bill will be reported with the tax left intact. The Democrats favored the tax.

THREE HELD IN ITALY ON U. S. SMUGGLING PLOT

Naples, Italy, April 27 (AP)—Three more persons were under arrest today charged with being members of the ring which has been trying to smuggle Italians into the United States.

Police said the men had induced a group of peasants to part with from $100 to $150 each on the promise they might be smuggled aboard the liner Salsola. They found money in their possession and with cleverly faked passports.

BBY'S BODY IS FOUND IN ROAD

Greenfield, April 27—Every resource of the local and state police here was used today to develop a trail in the mystery of the death of a mutilated baby, found on a local street and declared by the police to have been murdered.

The supposed slaying is called by the authorities the most brutal case of infanticide in Berkshire history.

With both arms severed at the shoulder, the body, that of an infant about a week old, was discovered on Spring ter. In the heart of the residential district. Police have a theory that it was thrown from a passing auto, and that its mutilated condition was due to the slayer's desire to remove all marks that might identify the baby victim.

The body was naked. About the neck was a tightly knotted piece of cheesecloth. Death was due to choking by this cloth, police announced.

The search for the slayer is in charge of Dist. Atty. Charles Fairbank. An autopsy report was expected this morning from Associate Medical Examiner N. P. Wood and Dr. A. W. Hayes, who examined Michael Killen, on his way to work, was walking along Spring ter, when he observed the body in the early morning light. It had probably lain in the street for 10 hours or more, police thought.

George A. Parker, registrar of motor vehicles, today suspended the license of Richard Q. Atkinson of Oxnard ave., Lowell, operator of the fifteen track which last Tuesday caused the death of eight-year-old Arthur L. Satter on Park st., Chelsea.

FIND ARSENAL AND CASH IN "HOLDUP LEADER'S" HOME

Chicago, April 27 (INS)—Two machine guns, several sawed-off shotguns, a stick of dynamite with caps and fuses, several bombs, $500 in cash and hundreds of rounds of ammunition were seized by federal agents at the home of "Limbo" Charles, indicted as leader of the $100,000 Grand Truck train holdup at Livermore Park in February. The cache, revealed by a woman, had been built into the Cleaver home. In a secret hiding place in the barn was discovered a quantity of dynamite. Cleaver is one of five men indicted for the holdup.

WOMAN, 2 MEN ARE HURT IN SLASHING BEE

Two men and a woman were injured today, and later arrested, in a row in an apartment on Campbell ave., Revere, in which one of the participants wielded a butcher's knife and another a hammer. Neighbors attracted by the noise added to the confusion by hurling rocks at the men to "save" the woman, Mrs. Amelia Brown, 25. The worst injured was James Brian Allen Davis, 48, janitor of the apartment block, upon whom Mrs. Brown had used a hammer, according to the police. His head was badly bruised. Mrs. Brown had four fingers badly slashed by the knife which Davis was using, police said, while the third participant, of the quarrel Frank Mulliner, 27, of Highland ave., Revere, escaped with his coat practically cut from his back. A call for police sent Inspector Frank O'Hara and Patrolman Michael Mahoney to the scene and they charged, possibly armed with dangerous weapons, would be indicted against Davis and Mrs. Brown.

Waterman's Number Seven

the pen to try before you buy a fountain pen—

Permanent fountain pen satisfaction requires studied selection. Write-ability is the first test. First choose the pen point which suits you perfectly. Waterman's Number Seven offers a choice of six different styles—fine to broad stub. Next examine the other essential features—a patented spoon-feed which insures even flow of ink, a self-filling device which locks, a clip-cap, and large ink capacity. The holder is hard rubber, the superior material for all quality pens—pleasing to feel, light, stainless and odorless. Satisfied as to utility and personal suitability, then consider beauty. Waterman's No. 7 is a beautiful pen.

The Color Band Inlay on the cap identifies the character of the pen point

This is Waterman's new method for determining the pen point you like.

Red—STANDARD—Write most written. A splendid correspondence pen. Medium flexibility. For home and general use.
Green—BOLD—Temper to over-plate holders. Will not slide over under heavy pressure. Unexcelled for stationery. The stationer's friend.
Purple—STIFF, FINE—Writes without pressure. Makes a thin, clear line and small forms with surprising accuracy. Popular with accountants.
Pink—FLEXIBLE, FINE—As resilient as a watch-spring. Fine, tapered point. Ground line to slide at any angle. Loved by stenographers.
Blue—BLUNT—An improved nib. This pen makes a broad line. May be held in any position. Liked by bank officers.
Yellow—ROUNDED—A different pen point. The tip is ball shaped. Makes a heavy, characteristic line without pressure. Seen in handshakes.

DEATH ARRIVED BEFORE THESE

The above points to the already lifeless form of Lockhart, 28-year-old speed demon, who lost in his bid against Death to establish a new speed record. Lockhart was one of the most daring riders on the track, and held every speed record up to 100 miles.

A WIFE'S MEDITATIONS

By HELEN ROWLAND.

WHAT is "a man's woman?" is one thing "before marriage" and quite another thing "after taking."

Most of the things about a man that attract a woman before marriage is apt to get on his nerves after marriage. The very charms that intoxicate him during courtship of a drive him to drink after the honeymoon.

The qualities a man demands in sweetheart and the qualities he wants in a wife no more resemble each other than the things he wants for dinner. The things which he picks a girl out are in this class for which he wants THERO' her out.

Unwisdom and uncertainty give real "kick" to the love chase and after a girl seems doubly desirable, "What a dull a man's interest in woman before marriage is to find herself just where he expected."

But once he has captured and married a woman he wants her as handy as his old pipe, as reliable as his watch and always right "there" like his office desk and his fountain pen. He wants her to stay DOCKED.

Before marriage he likes variety and is charmed with a girl whose moods are as conspicuous and changeable as April. But after marriage it's nerve-racking, never to know whether you are going to be met at the door with a flaming kiss, an icy stare or a tongue of fire.

After marriage he wants a wife like a June day, pleasantly sunny,

Perfect Friendship

By LUCY LOWELL.

"D" woman writes me, "that I am unreasonable when I expect complete faith from friendship."

She had a friend, and they had been close for years, sharing each other's happiness and trials, planning and working together.

Clearer than sisters they were really, she said, because sisters have never been so thoroughly that they never was a thought of, on my part at least.

"You see, I know her so well and understood her so thoroughly that it was almost as if her interests were mine."

But strange circumstances came about which put the woman who wrote me in a position where she was criticized—openly and with suspicion by a few. It all was cleared very shortly and she was proved to be the innocent bystander in the matter.

But in the meantime her friend hadn't held up their friendship.

Not by anything she did—rather by what she didn't do.

"You see I didn't explain the circumstances to her at the start," said the writer.

Newspaper Unwittingly Becomes Power Trust Organ

Chicago Tribune Is Tricked, the Trade Commission Shows

It is pretty to watch how the Power Trust gets hold of newspapers and uses them to block Congressional action on Boulder Dam.

The Chicago Tribune, one of the leading newspapers of the country, is an illustration, brought out in the current investigation of the "Electric Power Industry," by the Federal Trade Commission.

On January 27, 1927, a rush telegram was sent out from New York to mobilize public opinion against the Boulder Dam bill, whose passage was then threatening.

The telegram was signed by George Orley, publicity director of the National Electric Light Association, then the propaganda organization of the private power interests in the United States.

The telegram was received by many local publicity directors in the country, among them B. J. Mullaney, of Chicago, chairman of the Illinois Committee on Public Utility Information.

On January 27, the same day, Mullaney instructed his assistant, McGreggor, to get busy. The instructions ended: "Perhaps Harper Leech can be interested."

Perhaps some of the financial editors or reporters can be interested and then helped to get an interview out of some prominent citizen, banker, or otherwise, from the viewpoint of keeping the Government out of business.

Harper Leech was and is a feature writer on the Chicago Tribune. Well, they got Harper Leech interested. He is still interested and writing against Boulder Dam with material the private power people are furnishing him.

This is made quite clear in a letter written on March 21, 1928, from McGreggor to Major J. S. F. Richardson, of the Joint Committee of National Utility Associations, No. 400 Lexington avenue, New York. Major Richardson's committee has replaced the National Electric Light Association as the official power company propaganda organization to fight Boulder Dam. McGreggor writes:

"March 21, 1928.

"Dear Major Richardson—Harper Leech, of the Chicago Tribune (he who wrote as 'Scrutator'), is working on a series of articles about the electric light and power industry, and is obtaining quite a bit of data through this office.

"Now he is on the track of Boulder Dam. He wants to know if the construction of Boulder Dam in accordance with the Swing-Johnson bill would back the water up over any other feasible dam sites for a power supply.

"Also he has an idea—from some information he has obtained—that the whole Boulder Dam is a Los Angeles real estate promotion affair. He would like to have any data that might be had to back up that theory.

"I'll appreciate it if you'll have someone wire me tomorrow (Thursday) if possible the answer to the first question and let me know if you can send me any data to support the real estate promotion idea.

"Also, what are the latest developments, theories, etc., concerning the proposition—material that might help him.

"Best wishes. Sincerely,

"R. R. MCGREGGOR."

Did they get the information to Mr. Leech?

Well, in the Chicago Tribune of April 6, 1928, the Tribune presents Mr. Leech's article with the foreword:

"The Tribune presents a second article on the Boulder Dam, the giant water development project which is causing a hard fight in Congress."

The meat of the Leech story is in its headlines. "GREAT CLAMOR FOR A U. S.-BUILT BOULDER DAM. Los Angeles Real Estate Boom Awaits." The final paragraph of Mr. Leech's article reads:

"But no matter what the ultimate problems would be, the psychological effect of a Federal authorization and appropriation for Boulder Dam would be certain. A great boom in real estate values, not only in the Los Angeles region, but in all of the area affected by the project would start as soon as the President signed the bill. They know a boom when they see one in the Southwest, and they can see one a long way off."

The Chicago Tribune editorial writer picked up Mr. Leech's contention that Boulder Dam is a Los Angeles real estate proposition, and in that newspaper's lead editorial of April 16 he wrote:

"We are persuaded that the Boulder Dam proposal should be defeated. The expenditure of one hundred and twenty-five million dollars of the taxpayers' money, primarily for the benefit of real estate speculators, would be worse than unwise. It would be a scandal as odious as Teapot Dome."

We do not believe that the Chicago Tribune, or its eminent editors, knew that the paper was being used by the private power companies to play their game.

We believe that the resentment of the public should be turned merely against the insidious methods of the power trust organization, intent upon diverting newspapers from their proper function of protecting the public, and, instead, making them the mouthpieces of private monopoly.

The voice is Jacob's voice, but the hands are the hands of Esau. (Genesis xxvii, 22.)

CONSERVATION OF THE FORESTS

By DR. FRANK CRANE

THRIFT means intelligent spending as well as intelligent saving.

And forest conservation depends quite as much upon the intelligent use of timber products as upon the saving of the forests.

This is a point that has often been overlooked by tree sentimentalists.

Axel H. Oxholm, director of the National Committee on Wood Utilization at Washington, has issued a very timely pamphlet bringing out this point.

National interests will benefit far more by vigorous encouragement of timber growing than by hoarding the timber we now have. The reason for this is simple. Growing wood is after all an economical business, that is, if it can be made to pay it will be done and if it can't be made to pay all our shouting will not accomplish much.

It can only be made to pay when there is a constant and profitable use made of timber products and at the same time careful attention paid to reforestation.

Forest fires should be strictly guarded against, much more strictly than they are, and taxes on growing timber lands should be so regulated as to make the growing of timber lucrative.

The sentimental interest in trees, the love of trees as a part of the landscape and their necessity for the prevention of floods should go hand in hand with the commercial use of tree products, with their being cared for in such a way as not only to make timber profitable, but to provide for the new crop.

It is to be hoped that efforts will be successful to place the timber business of the United States upon a solid economic and political foundation, so that our forests may be preserved and may increase.

Mr. Oxholm says: "The constructive solution of the whole problem lies in timber use and timber culture, each backing and sustaining the other."

"Like any crop, timber becomes a loss if not utilized when mature, and waste should be avoided. Orderly and systematic work of timber lands should be encouraged."

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

HERE is a picture of a peevish young mother. The woods are full of them. But don't worry about that. The woods have always been full of them—and yet they've hung up some pretty good records.

I'll let Margie tell her own story. Dear Elsie, you know me. You spoke recently of women who were good wives but poor mothers. Well, Elsie, I'm one of them.

My husband says I'm a perfect housekeeper and a perfect wife, but when it comes to my four-year-old daughter, I'm "all wet."

I don't know why, but that little piece of humanity makes my nervous system dance all day long. We've moved to an out of the way place here—she didn't go to school and my husband, just to give her a place to play, with a porch, but she's not content to play on it, she wants to play on the street with the boys.

She has loads of toys, but still she always wants what she hasn't got. She talks to me sometimes so that I feel just like wringing her neck. I hold off spanking her when she does something she ought not to do, but when I do let go I'm terrible. Then I feel bad for hours.

What's the matter with me, Elsie? I've only one and I have no patience. I don't have a lot of temperamental ideas about her—she didn't go to school and my husband, just to give her a place to play, with a porch, but she's not content to play on it, she wants to play on the street with the boys.

Do you act that way because you have just one child? No, my dear, you act that way because you are an ordinary lady, like a selfish human being, like all the rest of the race. But you do it for the sake of your child.

You think that you're something unusual, specially created for the 25th Century and therefore quite incapable of feeling your grandma's common sense. So when your little daughter tells you, you naturally think you're "not made for motherhood."

With you you could make your hands off it—or wring her neck. You're all women like Margie. It is true that some women like children more than others, but any woman

Boston's Schools

DO They Give Us What We Pay For?

A committee representing several interests—one member named by the Mayor, one by the Real Estate Exchange, one by the Chamber of Commerce, four by the School Committee, one by the Central Labor Union and the ninth by the Home and School Association—is about to enter upon a survey of the public schools.

There is an intimation that the schools "cost too much," and not only that but that the city is not getting its money's worth.

Twelve years ago, the total expense of the City of Boston was $22,000,000.

Last year, the SCHOOLS ALONE cost nearly $20,000,000, of which the sum of $3,600,000 went for land and buildings.

The Committee of Nine will endeavor to find a plan which will lower costs, simplify the curriculum by eliminating non-essentials, and in general improve the working order of the entire system.

It looks like a sizable order, a task of proportions, and we can all be patient until the committee makes its report and we see how and in what direction money is to be saved.

For the motive of this survey is, of course, to save some money, to take some of the load off the back of John J. Citizen in his role of "Mr. Taxpayer." In 1916, as we have said, the cost of running the city was $23,000,000. Last year, it had jumped to $31,000,000. It is only reasonable that citizens should ask "why," and that the first inquiry should be directed toward the department which takes the largest share of the money.

Mayor Nichols' choice of a member of the Board of Survey is President A. Lawrence Lowell of Harvard University, who in an address before the National Education Association in February asked whether the schools are not "striving to teach too many things."

Dr. Brynjar, one of the trustees of the Boston City Hospital, will represent the Chamber of Commerce on the committee of inquiry; Mr. Francis R. Bangs the Boston Real Estate Exchange, and President Frank P. Fenton the C. I. U.

Entitled to four representatives, the School Committee has named a former chairman, Judge Michael H. Sullivan, Assistant Superintendents Arthur L. Gould and Walter F. Downey and Mr. Archer M. Nickerson, a master.

With such an able representation on the School Department, we may rest assured that the PRINCIPAL interest, that of the children and THEIR welfare, will not suffer. The boys and girls in our public schools number 130,000, a great city in themselves. This community wants them to have the best education. It is apparent that it is agreed that 30 cents out of every municipal dollar should provide it. The suggestion is that somewhere there is waste and extravagance.

Out of such an inquiry, great good may come.
